Senate

The Senate is not just a mud fight between donkeys and elephants. This is Canada, people. Here at UBC the Senate is the governing body regarding all academic matters. They make decisions involving admission and exam policy, approval, recommendations and revision of courses, providing grants and degrees, recommendation of the creation of faculties, departments, courses and scholarships, as well as hearing student appeals in matters of academic discipline, academic standing and admissions. Senators also advise and assist the President in university budget matters and make recommendations to the Board of Governors. The five students elected will have a tangible influence on the opportunities available to you throughout your academic career here at UBC.
